

MC1 is full of him/herself, pretty excited, MC2 is a chill easy-going person

Brave

MC1: I. LOVE. THAT. SONG! I'm ready! No more hiding! You're gonna see me! I'm gonna show you how big MY brave is!

MC2: Hey, that's pretty cool. Whatcha got to say? I'm listening. I think we're all listening.

MC1: I'm gonna say it, I'm gonna let the words fall out cuz I've got something to say.

MC2: Alright. Let's hear it.

MC1: Hear what?

MC2: It.

MC1: It what?

MC2: Hey, you came out and said you got something to say. I told you, we're ready to hear it. Whatever you got to say.

MC1: Oh.

(awkward pauses through here, MC2 is really trying to help MC1)

MC2: Sooo, you like the song?

MC1: Yeah.

MC2: You like the message to be brave and speak out?

MC1: Yeah.

MC2: OK. So, you had a good day today, maybe made some new friends?

MC1: Yeah. Listen, maybe I don't really have that much to say. I mean, I gotta say something that changes the world, right?

MC2: Change the world? I don't think that's what it means. Just speak your truth and try not to hurt anybody.

MC1: Oh. Ok. Well, I really like that song, and I really like everyone I met today. I think I made some new friends and I'm really happy about that.

MC2: Hey, guess what?

MC1: What?

MC2: I'm one of your new friends, and you just changed my world. Thanks for being brave.

You've Got a Friend in Me