

MC1 can't say "Kokomo" as it's normally pronounced, keeps saying it like "co-co-mo". Like hot cocoa. MC2 is try to get it right. MC3 has one line and walks up right at the end.

Kokomo

MC1: That is such a great song – beaches, getting away from it all. I'm ready. Let's go to Co-Co-Mo

MC2: "Co-Co-Mo"? Really, you've been saying that way?

MC1: Yeah! I think there must be more than just the beaches. Gotta be like "co-co nuts" in co-co trees. Hey, is that where hot "co-co" comes from?

MC2: No. Hot cocoa comes from cocoa beans. Coconuts come from coconut trees.

MC1: Wow! Really nerding out here!! So "Co-Co-Mo" has co-co-nuts and co-co beans?

MC2: Yeah, you're kinda driving me coconuts. Seriously, the place we were just singing about is Kokomo.

MC1: Ko Kay Mo?

MC2: Ko – kuh- mo. Boy this show really has hard names to pronounce. Kohhhhh-kuuuuh-moohhhh.

MC1: Kooooohhhh Kuuuuhhhh Mooooohhh.

MC2: Right!

MC1: Who's Mo?

MC2: There's no Mo.

MC1: We're done? Wow, that was short!

MC2: No, we're not done, we have another song.

MC1: But then who's Mo?

MC2: There is no Mo!

MC1: I thought you said we have another song!

MC2: We do!

MC3: Walks up to the mic

MC1: Fine! Can we sing now?

MC2: Who are you?

MC3: Hi, I'm Mo. (MC1, excited there IS a Mo!, MC2: confused, what just happened?)

Sweet Caroline